AIR SHIP AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Sheriff Will King is Negotiating with Representative of the Wright Brothers.

AIR WIZARDS MAY COME HERE

To Give Exhibition at County Fair—Added Interest Would be Manifest, as Relatives Reside Here.

Sheriff Will L. King secretary of the Rush County Fair Association, is communicating with the New York representatives of the Wright brothers, aeroplane wonders, who have astonished the world and if possible will book them for an air ship flight at the county fair this season. They will give exhibitions at many fairs this year and Rush county will be fortunate if she is among the first to see these wizards of the air and their successful invention.

An added interest will be manifest here, as the boys who are now hobnobbing with kings and the nobility of the old world, were born just over the Rush county line in Henry county. Their uncle, Rev. Harvey Wright was for years a minister in this county, and their father, Bishop Wright of Dayton was always a frequent visitor here. But recently he called on Rush county relatives and was the guest of his niece, Mrs. O. P. Dillon in North Main street, this city, for two days.

An air ship day at the county fair no doubt would draw the largest crowd ever assembled in Rush county on any previous occasion for any event.

DENTISTS WILL CLOSE SHOP

Beginning Next Week They Will Take a Half Day Off.

Beginning Wednesday, April 7, the dentists of Rushville will close their offices every Wednesday afternoon for the remainder of the year. This plan of a half holiday each week was started last year and it proved a happy innovation. A number of dentists in adjoining cities were quick to emulate the Rushville idea. On this half holiday business the dentists have an absolute trust—all of them are in. The shops to close are Drs. Sparks, Smith, Green, Chadwick, McClanahan, Behr and Van-Osdol.

TO IMPROVE TRACK AT FAIRGROUNDS

Executive Board Will Consider the Matter Saturday—Entire Speedway Will be Widened.

URNS ARE NOW DANGEROUS

The Rush County Fair Association which will have a meeting Saturday will consider the advisability of widening the track. It is planned to move the amphitheater back and improve the turns. As it is now the track is dangerous for high speed on the turns. The improvement will probably not be made this year even if it is decided to make the change.

Some of the moon's mountains are 36,000 feet high.

DR. SEXTON IN OPERATION

At the Fayette Sanitarium in Connersville Yesterday Morning.

Lowell Burgdoerfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burgdoerfer of Grand avenue, underwent a surgical operation Monday morning at the Fayette sanitarium for appendicitis, says the Connersville Examiner. The operation was performed by Dr. Sexton of Rushville and Dr. Mountain of this city. The young man has awakened from the effects of the anaesthetic administered and at noon was doing as well as could be expected.

CUPID BEGINS HIS SPRING BUSINESS

Several Marriage Licenses Were Issued During Past Week After Noticeable Delay.

A VISIT TO THE COUNTY CLERK

Cupid has commenced his work of joining hearts, at least he has started in Rush county. At this time of the year when the flowers are beginning to assume a newer and brighter appearance and the birds warbling their songs of approaching spring, the young people also begin to make preparations to pay a visit to the county clerk. Already the dark forms of "spooning" couples can be faintly detected strolling in the semi-darkness. The moon has not yet entirely recovered from its first peep on habitation, but this fact does not deter cupid who works in mysterious ways.

SHOW SHAKESPEARE'S DEBT TO THE BIBLE

The May Donnan Class in Course of Study "The Bible as English Literature" Met Saturday.

DISCUSSION WAS INTERESTING

Mrs. May W. Donnan's class met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Will Jay in North Main street.

The lesson on "The Bible in Shakespeare" was one of the most interesting of the present course of study, "The Bible as English Literature." Perhaps no other lesson of the term has more clearly shown Mrs. Donnan's wonderful scholarship and intimate knowledge of the Bible.

The plays "Hamlet" and "Macbeth" were analyzed to show Shakespeare's indebtedness to the Bible, and that he made it a standard for his best work. In every case his reflections and comments upon words are taken from the Scriptures. Often the allusions are so plain that the most careless reader readily sees them, others so subtle they can be detected only by those whose use of the Bible is perpetual, who have an intellectual acuteness and a faultless memory.

The subject for the next lesson is "The Bible in Tennyson."

NOT MUCH IMPROVED

William Churchill who suffered a severe stroke of paralysis at his home in North Main street recently, is not much improved. He was made speechless from the stroke and has never yet been able to talk.

By a vote of 31 to 21 the Oregon Legislature has refused to abolish the whipping post for wife-beaters.

YOUNG MEN MAY HAVE CLUB SOON

Petition is Circulated and Movement May Finally be Brotherhood of All Churches.

SOME TALK OF A Y. M. C. A.

Quite a Few Men of Means Have Signified Their Willingness to Make Liberal Donations.

With the abolition of the saloon coming there has been more talk about caring for the young men of Rushville than has ever been heard before. Men of means, prominent in all walks of life, have signified their willingness to make donations towards a permanent club or Y. M. C. A. and if ever the opportunity was ripe for raising a fund, now is the time.

Several of the churches would get behind such a movement, and indeed the Main Street Christian church has seriously contemplated fitting out club rooms for the boys in the basement of their church, where a bowling alley, library, gymnasium and other attractions would be installed. During the past few days several of the newspapers of the adjoining cities have copied and commented on the wisdom of the remarks made by Rev. Walter Frazee at a church banquet here last week. It is understood that several young men have a petition which they are circulating to have some sort of a club arranged for them.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR THE GAMBLERS

Greensburg Man Declares he Lost Seven Thousand Dollars Playing Poker Cards.

WILL TAKE MATTER TO COURT

The Greensburg Review says: Sporting circles have been stirred from center to circumference today by the announcement that a well-known citizen with an uncontrollable desire to speculate on "jack-pots" had made formal demand upon the proprietors of an alleged gambling room for the return of seven thousand dollars in cold cash he claims to have lost on the green cloth while "sitting in" at a friendly game of draw. Up to the last accounts the gentlemen had not "come across" with the seven thousand, and now both sides are consulting attorneys with a view to airing the whole matter in court. Meanwhile the sports who delight in the great national game are sizing up the tall timber with a view to hasty hike if the worst comes to the worst. It is said that the claimant is out for blood, and nothing will satisfy him but the seven thousand ducats. There are interesting times ahead.

CUBAN ITCH IN THE SCHOOLS

Some of the Grade Pupils are Now Slightly Afflicted.

The so-called Cuban itch prevalent in Rushville, has spread into the rooms of the grade school and a number of the pupils are afflicted. However, they seem to have but a slight touch of it.

CATES SEEMS TO BE IN A BAD BOX

Tells Conflicting Story to Attorney Young of This City in the Bribe Case.

WILL HAVE TO FACE TRIAL

Final Explanation of Alleged Shady Deal Will be Fully Aired in Circuit Court.

A chapter in the case against Squire Cates, against whom charges have been made which, if sustained, will oust him from office, is added, from Rushville says the Connersville Examiner.

It will be recalled by readers of the Examiner that the justice of the peace is charged with receiving the costs in a case after he had once found the defendant guilty, and changed his ruling and released the defendant without the knowledge or consent of Prosecutor Wiles.

Wash Robinson, a colored man, was charged by his wife with wife desertion. The squire found the defendant guilty but he claims that after the prosecutor left the office and went out to prepare the bond that he came into possession of evidence which cleared the defendant and that Robinson's attorney, Mr. Young, of Rushville, told him he had a right to change his ruling if he saw fit.

The squire says that he did not assess any costs, but that the Rushville attorney offered him the amount of money that had been collected by Robinson's friends. The squire says that he told the attorney that he had no right to accept the money under the circumstances, but that the attorney said that "it is none of your business what I do," or words to that effect, and that he left the money with the squire as a sort of a "donation."

The squire has been depending on the attorney to support him in his statement when the case comes to trial, but according to the Rushville Republican the attorney will tell quite another story if he is used as a witness.

SANCTIONED BY PUBLIC AND PRESS

G. P. Alden Will Lecture on "Needs of the Hour" Tonight at the M. E. Church.

LAST LECTURE OF THE COURSE

The best number of the high school lecture course will be given at the St. Paul's M. E. church tonight. George D. Alden will deliver an address on the subject: "Needs of the Hour." Charles R. Harmon, pastor Central Presbyterian church, Brownsville, Pa., says of him:

"The Hon. George D. Alden opened our 1906-'07 Lecture Course to the supreme delight of the large audience that has assembled in the Central Presbyterian church to hear him. He lectured on "The Needs of the Hour," and it was strong, entertaining and helpful. His lecture was also unique. Nothing like it had ever been delivered in the town. To say that we were more than pleased is putting it mildly. For highly intelligent audiences Judge Alden will be in demand. The people think with him and he delights them with his pleasing manner and good humor."

Everett Pickard Receives Orders to Return—Here on Furlough.

THROWN HEAVILY FROM HIS HORSE

Allen Hinchman Found on Ground in an Unconscious Condition Last Night.

CAUGHT ON A CLOTHES LINE

As he Rode His Horse Across a Yard After Unruly Cow—Reported Better Today.

Allen Hinchman of West Seventh street was thrown from his horse last night about 5:30 o'clock, and when picked up was in an unconscious condition. Mr. Hinchman had just returned from the pasture where he keeps his cow and was driving it to his home. The cow was full of spring glee and became unruly on several occasions. One of its provoking pastimes was to run into every alley or dart across a yard. When near home the cow ran into an open yard and Mr. Hinchman rode his horse following to drive the cow back into the street. It was just beginning to turn dusk and he did not see a clothes line stretched across the yard. It struck him just below his face but with such force that it threw him from his horse, heavily to the ground.

Mr. Hinchman was assisted to his home by friends, and while the accident was quite a shock to him on account of his advanced age, he did not suffer any injuries other than painful bruises about the body, and was in good shape again today.

But is Merely Taking it on as a Side Line—Will Give Performance in Milroy.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

A former editor of this city has taken on the management of a show troupe as a side line. His company will give a performance in Milroy this evening. Of the venture the Greensburg News says:

"Walter Kaler, editor of the St. Paul Telegram, and manager of the St. Paul Comedy company, was in this city today. The company will present "Four Troublesome Nellies, or All a Mistake" at Milroy Tuesday evening. On Friday they will repeat the performance at St. Paul by request. This play is a side-splitting comedy given by an exceptionally good cast and all should be sure and see it."

POLICE CALLED LAST NIGHT

Stranger Was Acting in a Mysterious Manner in West Third Street.

The police were called to the J. T. Kitchen home in West Third street last night where a stranger was acting in a mysterious manner, making a number of suspicious maneuvers that frightened the residents of that locality. Nothing was seen of him when the police arrived.

SAYS A DRY TOWN IS PROSPEROUS

Rev. W. W. Sniff, Formerly of This City, But Now Minister in Paris, Ill.

MAKES A SPEECH AT CLINTON

Has Lived in Saloonless Town Over Year and Conditions Are Much Improved.

A dispatch from Clinton, Ind. in the Indianapolis News tells of a speech delivered by Rev. W. W. Sniff, formerly pastor of the Main Street Christian church, but now of Paris, Ill., in which he extolls the benefits of a dry town, having had practical experience in Paris, Ill. In a speech at the Methodist church in this city last night, the Rev. W. W. Sniff pastor of the Christian church, of Paris, Ill., met the financial arguments of the "wets," offered in the local option campaign here, by comparing conditions in Paris with conditions in the same city one year ago, before the saloons were voted out.

Mr. Sniff declared that despite the fact that Paris voters had deprived their city of $20,000 a year revenue that formerly came from saloon licenses, it had not been necessary, as has been anticipated by both "wets," and "dry," to raise the tax rate. He also declared that paving the sidewalk building had gone on as before. He said the city clerk had told him yesterday that the city had borrowed $5,700 less during the past year than during the average year when the city had saloons. The speaker said he had a sworn statement from the president of a Paris bank showing that during the "dry" year deposits in his bank had increased $85,000.

No line of business, declared Mr. Sniff, had been injured except that of the justice of the peace. He urged the Clinton business men who have been wondering how the $12,500 revenue from the saloons would be replaced, to vote to stop the expenditures of $300,000 a year that passes through the saloons, and declared the city revenues would not suffer.

To offset the argument being used in this city by those favoring saloons, who say the emptying of forty business rooms within a year will destroy rental values. Mr. Sniff said there were twenty-seven empty business houses, small and large, in Paris before the saloons were voted out and that there are now less than half that number. A member of the Anti-Saloon League had taken photographs of the twenty seven rooms, the speaker asserted, anticipating the assertions about empty buildings that would be made by the "wets" if they were defeated.

The "wets" have circulated much literature purporting to show that Paris is a "dead" town since it went "dry." Both "wets" and "drys" are very active in Vermillion county. The election will be held Thursday. The liquor element is using literature, and the personal canvass method. The "drys" say they are fighting "in the open."

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, March 30.—The Methodist Ministers' association played an other inning Monday in their game to have the Sunday baseball law repealed. At their regular meeting the matter of filing a suit to contest the law was discussed. The ministers have enlisted the support of many church laymen, who will put up the money to carry the case to the supreme court. The plan is to attempt to cause the arrest of the players in the first Sunday professional game of the season and to make the test case by appealing from the police court straight through to the court of highest jurisdiction.

Gov. Marshall has appointed C. C. Matson of Greencastle to succeed Parks M. Martin as Democratic member of the state board of tax commissioners. There is a controversy as to when Martin's term expires. Martin insists that his commission entitles him to hold the office until Aug. 24, but the governor thinks it expires May 1. He has written to Martin and Colonel Matson suggesting that they settle the matter between themselves. Colonel Matson was born at Brookville in 1841 and has been prominent in state affairs for many years. He served throughout the civil war, taking a company into the army from Greencastle, and coming out with a colonel's commission. He was chairman of the Democratic state committee in 1878 and was elected to congress from the old Fifth district in 1880. He served four terms in congress and was defeated for governor in 1888 by the late Alvin P. Hovey.

"State-wide prohibition for Indiana in 1912" is to be the slogan of the Anti-Saloon League in the local option elections that are to be held during the next six months. Within that time it is expected by the league officials that all of the counties with the possible exception of Marion, Vigo, Vanderburg, Allen, Lake, Dearborn, Dubois and Madison will have wiped out the saloons. The state cannot be made dry for two years, even if the league wins all of the remaining elections, as Wayne county has voted wet. With all but eight or nine counties dry, Superintendent Shumaker and the rest of the anti-saloon leaders feel that it will be an easy matter to get through the next legislature either a statutory state-wide prohibition law or an amendment to the constitution that can be carried at the regular election in 1912. Jennings, Vermillion and Bartholomew counties are voting today. The liberal element has hopes of winning all of them, but the chances favor the other side.

Republican politicians at the state house are somewhat exercised over a report that a proposition has been made by Governor Marshall to divide the disputed patronage by giving him the custodian and the Republicans the engineer, each taking half of the minor places. Some of the Republicans heard that Secretary of State Sims had acquiesced in the plan, but it was stated at Governor Marshall's office that no offer of the kind was authorized by him. The governor will make the appointments and if there is a dispute, will let the courts determine who shall fill the offices.

NINETY-THREE SALOONS

Will Have to Go Out of Business in Springfield, Ohio.

Springfield, O., March 30.—Clark county voted dry at the Rose law local option election Monday by 91 votes. This city gave the wets a majority of 1,715, but the rural vote overcame this and the drys won out by the narrow margin given above.

Every one of the six wards in the city was carried by the wets. The result of the election will put ninety-seven saloons out of business. Of this number ninety-three are located in this city and four in South Charleston. This is the first county in the state to hold a local option election where a majority vote was in the city. The drys announce that they will move on Dayton as soon as the election is held in Youngtown.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

GOING SOME.

(New Castle Courier.)

William Green was granted a divorce from Etta Green Saturday. Very shortly Andy Cole appeared at the clerk's office and paid the costs of the case. In a short time he and Etta appeared for a license and the couple were married before the ink, granting the woman's husband a divorce, had dried.

COULDN'T USE ONE.

(Shelbyville News.)

Three Chinamen were gazing in the show window at the Hoop Bros.' store at the razor display.

"Aha! here's where I make a sale," chuckled Emmett Lewis, clerk, and he proceeded to arrange and rearrange the window. The Mongolians were duly interested in the proceedings and evinced considerable interest in the dexterity displayed by Mr. Lewis in handling and rehandling the keen edged razors.

The Chinamen proceeded on down the street.

"They seemed interested," soliloquized Mr. Lewis. "Wonder why they didn't buy?"

Then a little bird whispered in his ear, "They don't have whiskers. What would they want with a razor?"

ONE WAY OF DOING IT.

(Greensburg Review.)

A man who has a good working position in this city, was off duty today, and when he failed to put in an appearance at dinner his wife suspected that he was up town drinking. She appealed to Marshal Dickey, who readily consented to help her find the missing man—her husband. Together the two made the rounds, visiting several saloons before he was found and identified by the wife as a missing link of her household. They then went to the Mayor's office. The man had been drinking, but was not sufficiently intoxicated to warrant his arrest. He willingly gave his promise to quit—a promise that was echoed by his wife, who said, "If he don't quit, I will"—and was then released with a friendly warning from the Mayor.

THE PERTINENT THING.

(Shelbyville News.)

How easy it is to be misinterpreted. No one knows this better than a Columbus barber, who although of the talkative species, is a rare good sort of a fellow.

Yesterday afternoon he was shaving a customer, and during the operation, kept up a continual chatter, touching on all the topics of the day. Finally the work was completed with no loss save a few pieces of enticement.

When it came to combing the hair, the barber paused a few moments, and then said: "What will it be, wet or dry?"

"None of your business," was the tart reply. "I'm keeping my politics to myself."

And the tonsorialist has not yet recovered from his surprise.

Let the Gowdy gossips now proceed with their spring housecleaning and we would suggest that they begin with their own back door yards.

GOSSIP ABOUT A MERGER SOON

Which Involves I. & C. Road—Terre Haute & Eastern Said to Want It.

NOW INSPECTING THE LINE

Rumored That it Would Mean Early Through Connection to Cincinnati, via Connersville.

Right from the "thick" of traction circles at Indianapolis, a report comes to the News that there is a movement on foot, says the Connersville News, by the owners of the Terre Haute and Eastern, which includes the line from Indianapolis to Richmond, to absorb the I. & C. It is even said that the prospective purchasers are already inspecting the line in company with Mr. Henry and other officials. Color is given this by a mention in a Greensburg paper of a large party of traction men being there a few days ago.

John H. McGowan, the traction king, is said to be the real power behind the T. H. & E. and he is ambitious to largely extend his lines. It is said the company has a successful fight on foot to get into St. Louis.

The main object in acquiring the I. & C., it is said, is to get into Cincinnati by the shortest possible route. The line will be extended at once it is said, by the new company, if it gets possession. But the I. & C. property has in traction parlance two "dead ends;" one here and the other at Greensburg. To extend the line from Greensburg east would traverse one of the heaviest grades in the State with a very sparse population between Batesville and Lawrenceburg Junction, where a spur is necessary to connect with the town itself. Then there is another long stretch of barren country to Cleves, Ohio. A part of this section is already covered by a line. Besides the distance is much greater than from here to Cincinnati. It is understood, however, that the extension of the line from this city east is most favorable by the promoters of the alleged deal.

Regarding the foregoing story, a prominent I. & C. official was asked about it and says there was not the slightest grounds for such a report to become current and that there was absolutely not a word of truth in it.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

"Now, I want to know how long it will be before I get an answer to this letter?" a young lady demanded with a tell tale blush as she handed Postmaster Frazee a communication addressed to her lover.

"That depends," said the postmaster, reflectively. "If he's in jail, they only let them write once a month—on Sundays. If he's dead broke, he will have to wait until he earns the price of a stamp, and I have no data on which to base an opinion of his earning capacity. If he's ill in bed he may feel delicate about dictating his real sentiments to a cold, disinterested third person; and if it's smallpox they won't let him write at all. Then again, if he's got a new girl—"

She didn't wait for the postmaster to continue his catalogue of contingencies.

AMUSEMENTS

The shows at the Grand theater last night attracted large crowds. The two subjects, "The Golden Louis" and "A Politician's Love Story," one comic and the other a tragic drama served to make a well balanced program. The same subjects will be shown tonight. Miss Iva Brown will sing "I Will Always Love You, Sweetheart, in the Same Old Way."

Good crowds continue to attend the Palace theater. The two subjects, "Florrie's Birthday" and "A Hypnotic Subject" are both comic in the extreme and never fail to produce a laugh. The musicians at the theater are especially good. The same pictures will be shown this evening and "I Can't Find Another Girl Like You."

At the Vandett theater will be shown "The Irish Hero" and "Lost in a Folding Bed." Miss Clara Gregg will sing the illustrated ballad, Smiling Star. The Mayme De Russell Co., will put on the talking picture "Ex-Convict No. 900," a strong subject teeming with interest.

Of all the late hits that have appeared this season there is none that excels Mr. Ernest A. Harrington's beautiful production of "Little Miss Blue Bird" which is coming to the Grand theater, Friday night April 2. Heading the company of splendid actors is Miss Beatrice Kerney, who for the past two seasons has met with unparalleled success in drama and in musical comedy she bids fair to excel all her former records for popularity. She is a clever little actress and a singer with an unusual range of voice and with her beautiful costumes she is ever an interesting little personage. The catchy songs of that bewitching chorus. The funny Dutchman and the keen-witted Irishmen together with the beautiful stage and electrical effects makes the play pleasing beyond description. The company as a whole has few equals in the world of musical comedy.

Pond Lily Salad for Easter

Select some lettuce leaves perfect in shape and color, and arrange them in a circle upon the plates to be served at this course. Then take hard-boiled eggs, selecting the largest to be obtained; cut them into halves, take out the yolks and cut the whites into long narrow strips, widest at the middle of the egg, and narrow towards the ends, like the petals of the pond lily. Arrange these strips in the center of the lettuce leaves, with the narrowest ends outward, to form a circle, leaving a small circular space in the center, then put a second row, placing the pieces between those in the first circle. Finally press the yolks through a sieve, and heap a small quantity in the center of the circle, covering the green space, to represent the yellow heart of the lily.

For Woman's Eye.

American women have put the stamp of their approval on the corset made in this country of imported materials. The corsets made in Europe are not so well adapted to the American woman's figure.

Most of the suits and gowns of the heavier wash materials are trimmed with soutache braiding.

Brims rolled at the side, wide and drooping at the back, are to be found on many of the hats.

A decided novelty in silk hosiery is the tassel on the instep, held by a heavy hand embroidery.

Velvet ribbon with taffeta back is used for trimming the new millinery.

Barred thin wash materials are among the favorites for shirt waists.

The Marie Louise is one of the favorite types of the spring headgear.

Silk negligee are among the best approved.

Sashes of gray and delicate colors are shown extensively this season.

New York Fashion Letter

BY CATHERINE MANN-PAYZANT.

Fashions for children follow the lines of those designed for grown folks to a certain extent as styles vary. This is most noticeable in the gowns for girls of fourteen or older. The dresses for younger children vary slightly, as the sensible mother prefers garments suitable for youth, and realizes that they should be simple in lines and trimming.

The one-piece dress worn with a guimpe is the prettiest model for the undeveloped figure and may be made in such attractive ways that nothing more charming can be desired. Such frocks are suitable for any material, but are especially adapted to the summer ginghams, lawns, chambrays and linens. They are usually trimmed with embroidery about the neck and armholes. Cross stitch is extremely pretty in plain materials and is most appropriate for children's dresses.

A pretty and new model has been introduced this season. There is a straight blouse that slips over the head and laces at the front with black velvet ribbon. A pretty note is the hand embroidery about the neck, sleeves and hem, showing tiny flowers and green leaves. The skirt is a pleated model and is joined to an underwaist of cambric. The guimpe and sleeves are of mull. The design will develop well in any of the wash materials or thin silks, and may be trimmed with braid or embroidery bands.

The semi-directoire style is more suitable for the older girls, and many charming models are shown. A number of these are of satin, which, although usually considered inappropriate for youth, is very attractive on girlish figures. A very pretty French design in rose linen is shown in the sketch. It fits the hips closely and is fastened at one side. Cotton braid and buttons form the trimming with an embroidered design on the front of the blouse. The yoke and sleeves are of batiste.

Every girl just delights in the pretty ginghams designed for summer wear and would like to possess half a dozen useful little dresses made of the fascinating cheeks and daintily shaded plaids, if possible. Frocks made of the comparatively inexpensive material are always youthful and especially smart if not made in a fussy way but with enough solid color introduced to balance the plaid. It is rather difficult to find models that have this quality, for usually too much trimming is used, or it is not kept flat enough. It is an excellent idea to introduce a plain tint matching the deepest tone in the plaid, unless a black and white check is used in which case red, black or white may be employed in way of contrast.

The model gives an unusually attractive illustration of a plaid on solid tint combination, and may be made up in ginghams, pongee or light weight wool materials for spring or summer. For beach wear, cream serge with red silk would be extremely smart and attractive for a young girl, blue and white would be equally pleasing. Buttons always give an attractive note to a gown, and in this instance may match the trimming, or if preferred, pearl ones may be used. The parasol and hat should carry out the color scheme if possible.

The number of models designed for girlish figures show the guimpes without collars, the neck being cut low and round. It is a very attractive style for some, but it is not becoming to everyone and should be adopted only after experimenting before the mirror, if one wishes to look her best. Many of the new blouses are cut low with a flat Dutch collar as a finish. This is also a very trying style, and should be avoided by those past the first youth.

Lace Costumes --Colored Sashes

Paris has set the seal of her approval on lace costumes, and they have been declared the smart toilet for the June race-meets and garden-parties. They will be worn over pale colored slips of satin and with colored sashes passed over and under the lace at the high waistline. In fact, colored sash ribbons and gauze and tinsel ribbons are to be reckoned with as an important and not inexpensive item of the summer wardrobe.

Bolster Case Skirts

Some of the new skirts are so narrow that they look like bolster-cases and indeed, go under that name abroad. The close fitting princess and semi-princess dresses will be among the best gowns of the season. There are very few models that are anywhere near as beautiful or as becoming. Another pretty fashion that is especially good for young girls with fresh, full faces and pretty throats is the collarless dress. It is really a little lower than the name suggests, for it is cut away about an inch below the collar line. Sleeves, of course, will be very small and the coats quite long, but not as long as last winter, very naturally.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

"I wouldn't try just now if I were you," Douglas answered tenderly. "It's my wheel, ain't it?" Polly questioned after a pause. "Yosh what, chile?" Mandy exclaimed as she turned from the table, where she had been rolling up the unused bandages left from the doctor's call the night before. "I say it's my creeper, my paddle," Polly explained, trying to locate a few of her many pains. "Gee, but that hurts!" She tried to bend her ankle. "Is it punctured?" "Only sprained," Douglas answered, striving to control his amusement at the expression on Mandy's puzzled face. "Better not talk any more about it."

she gasped at the possibility of her actually having a room all of her own took hold of her mind. "Much obliged," she said, with a nod, feeling that something was expected of her. She knew no other phrase of gratitude than the one "Muvver Jim" and Toby had taught her to say to the manager when she received from him the first stick of red and white striped candy. "You're very welcome," Douglas answered, with a ring of genuine feeling in his voice. "Awful quiet, ain't it?" she ventured after a pause. "Guess that's what woke me up." Douglas laughed good naturedly at the thought of quiet as a disturber

"SHE DONE BEEN CUTTIN' UP SOMEFIN AWFUL!"

"Ain't anything the matter with my tongue, is there?" she asked, turning her head to one side and studying him quizzically. "I don't think there is," he replied good naturedly. "How did I come to fall in here anyhow?" she asked as she studied the walls of the unfamiliar room. "We brought you here," he explained. "It's a swell place," she conceded grudgingly. "We are comfortable," he admitted as a telltale smile again hovered about his lips. He was thinking of the changes that he must presently make in Miss Polly's vocabulary. "Is this the big top?" she asked. "The—what?" he stammered. "The main tent," she explained. "Well, no; not exactly. It's going to be your room now, Miss Polly." "My room! Gee! Think of that!"

and added that he feared it might at first be rather dull for her, but that Jim and Toby would send her news of the circus and that she could write to them as soon as she was better. "I'll have to be a heap better 'an I ever was 'fore I can write much," Polly drawled, with a whimsical little smile. "I will write for you," the pastor volunteered, understanding her plight. "You will?" For the first time he saw a show of real pleasure in her eyes. "Every day," Douglas promised solemnly. "An' you will show me how?" "Indeed, I will." "How long am I in for?" she asked. "The doctor can tell better about that when he comes." "The doctor! So—it's as bad as that, eh?" "Oh, that need not frighten you," Douglas answered consolingly. "I ain't frightened," she bridled quickly. "I ain't never scared of nothin'. It's only 'cause they need me in the show that I'm a-kickin'." "Oh, they will get along all right," he said reassuringly. "Get along without my act!" It was apparent from her look of astonishment that Douglas had completely lost whatever ground he had heretofore gained in her respect. "Say, have you seen that show?" She waited for his answer with pity and contempt. "No," admitted John weakly. "Well, I should say you ain't or you wouldn't make no crack like that. I'm the whole thing in that push," she said, with an air of self complacency, "an' with me down an' out that show will be on the bum for fair."

"I beg your pardon," was all Douglas could say, confused by the sudden volley of unfamiliar words. "You're kiddin' me," she said, turning her head to one side, as was her wont when assailed by suspicion. "You must 'a' seen me ride?" "No, Miss Polly, I have never seen a circus," Douglas told her, half regretfully, a sense of his deep privation stealing upon him. "What!" cried Polly incredulously. "Lordy, no, chile. He ain't nebber seed none ob dem t'ings," Mandy interrupted as she tried to arrange a few short stemmed posies in a variegated bouquet. "Well, what do you think of that?" Polly gasped. "You're the first I ever saw that hadn't." She was looking at him as though he were a curiosity. "So I'm a Rube!" Douglas shook his head with a sad little smile and good naturedly agreed that he had sometimes feared as much. "That's what we always calls a guy like you," she explained innocently and added hopefully: "Well, you must 'a' seen our parade. All the pikers see that. It don't cost nothin'."

"I'm afraid I must also plead guilty to the charge of being a piker," Douglas admitted, half sheepishly, "for I did see the parade." "Well, I was the one on the white horse right behind the lion cage," she began excitedly. "You remember?" "It's a little confused in my mind"—he caught her look of amazement—"just at present," he stammered, feeling her wrath again about to descend upon him. "Well, I'm the twenty-four sheet stand," she explained. "Sheet!" Mandy shrieked from her corner. "Yes, the billboards, the pictures," Polly said, growing impatient at their persistent stupidity. "She suah am a funny talkin' thing!" mumbled Mandy to herself as she clipped the withered leaves from a plant near the window. "You are dead sure they know I ain't comin' on?" Polly asked, with a lingering suspicion in her voice. "Dead sure." And Douglas smiled to himself as he lapsed into her vernacular.

There was a moment's pause. Polly realized for the first time that she must actually readjust herself to a new order of things. Her eyes again roved about the room. It was a cheerful place in which to be imprisoned. Even Polly could not deny that. The broad window at the back, with its white and pink chintz curtains on the inside and its frame of ivy on the outside, spoke of singing birds and sunshine all day long. Everything from the white ceiling to the sweet smelling matting that covered the floor was spotlessly clean. The cane bottomed rocker near the curved window seat with its pretty pillows told of days when a convalescent might look in comfort at the garden beneath. The counterpane, with its old fashioned rose pattern; the little white tidies on the back of each chair and Mandy crooning beside the window all helped to make a homelike picture.

She wondered what Jim and Toby would say if they could see her now, sitting like a queen in the midst of her soft coverlets, with no need to raise even a finger to wait upon herself. "Ain't it the limit?" she sighed, and with that Jim and Toby seemed to drift farther away. She began to see their life apart from hers. She could picture Jim with his head in his hands. She could hear his sharp orders to the men. He was always short with the others when anything went wrong with her. "I'll bet 'Muvver Jim's' in the dumps," she murmured as a cloud stole across the flowerlike face; then the tired muscles relaxed, and she ceased to rebel. "Muvver Jim?" Douglas repeated, feeling that he must recall her to a knowledge of his presence. "That's what I call him," Polly explained, "but the fellows call him 'Big Jim.' You might not think Jim could be a good mother just to look at him

"Lordy, no, chile. He ain't nebber seed none ob dem t'ings," Mandy interrupted as she tried to arrange a few short stemmed posies in a variegated bouquet. "Well, what do you think of that?" good health, with its blessings, must understand, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living aright. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it. round eyes that had made Jim so often declare that the kid knew everything. "Why, mother 'd 'a' been ashamed if she'd 'a' knowed how she wound up. She was the best rider of her time—everybody says so—but she cashed in by fallin' off a skate what didn't have no more ginger 'an a kitten. If you can beat that!" She gazed at him with her lips pressed tightly together evidently expecting some startling expression of wonder. "And your father?" Douglas asked rather lamely, being at a loss for any adequate comment upon a tragedy which the child before him was too desolate even to understand. "Oh, dad's finish was all right. He got his'n in a lions' cage where he worked. There was nothin' slow about his end." She looked up for his approval.

"For de Lord's sake!" Mandy groaned as the wonder of the child's conversation grew upon her. "An' now I'm down an' out," Polly concluded, with a sigh. "But this is nothing serious," said the pastor, trying to cheer her. "It's serious enough with a whole show a-dependin' on you. Maybe you don't know how it feels to have to knock off work." "Oh, yes, I do," Douglas answered quickly. "I was ill a while ago myself. I had to be in bed day after day, thinking of dozens of things that I ought to be doing."

"Was you ever floored?" Polly asked with a touch of disbelief as she studied the fine, healthy physique at the side of her bed. "Deed, he was, chile," Mandy cried, feeling that her opportunity had now arrived, "an' I had the wors' time a-keepin' him in bed. He act jes' like you did." "Did he?" Polly was delighted to find that the pastor had "nothin' on her," as she would have put it. "You ought to have heard him," continued Mandy, made eloquent by Polly's show of interest. "What will dose poor folks do?" he kept a-sayin'. 'Jes' yo' lay where yo' is,' I told him. 'Dem poor folks will be better off dan dey would be a-comin' to yoah funeral.'"

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and rages of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual cause to suffer longer without help. WOMAN SHOT IN BLACKMAIL ACT

Threatening Letter to Banker
Brought Results.

NOT WHAT SHE LOOKED FOR

Mrs. Vella Springer, a Former School Teacher, Was Shot While in the Act of Removing a Decoy Package Placed by Banker Read of Washington in Answer to Threatening Letter Demanding $30,000—A Friend of the Woman Held on Suspicion.

Washington, Ind., March 30.—While in the act of removing a decoy package placed by Nathan G. Read, president of the Washington National bank, in response to a letter demanding $30,000 on penalty of death, Mrs. Vella Springer, formerly a school teacher, was peppered with shot from guns fired by officers in ambush and is seriously wounded. She is being cared for at the county jail and it is believed will recover. Joseph Sparks, known as a friend of the woman, is being held on suspicion.

The shooting was the outcome of a sensational blackmailing attempt in which parties at present unknown endeavored to extort $30,000 on threat of nitroglycerin being used if directions were not complied with.

The threats were conveyed in a letter received by Nathan G. Read, head of the Washington National bank, Monday afternoon, as follows:

"Dear Sir—I am in need of money, and you will put $30,000 at the east gate of the High School building, on the north side of the post, at 8 o'clock tonight. After you leave the money, go down Walnut street and go quick. I have recently bought one gallon of nitroglycerin, and unless this is done, I will blow up your home, that of your son Louis and the National Bank; and if you fail to do this, or if any of the cops are around to watch, this will be a sorry day for you. Signed,
ONE WHO MEANS BUSINESS.

Plan Trap For Blackmailers.

Read at once consulted the authorities and in the evening Miles Jones and Louis Read concealed themselves in the school building, while Police Sergeant Kernode and Patrolman Gibson stationed themselves on the opposite side of the street.

At the appointed hour Read made his appearance near the school building and stood for a moment under a lamp light, consulted his watch, removed a small white box from his coat and placed it by the lamp-post as instructed and hurriedly departed. A few minutes later Mrs. Springer made her appearance, coming from the opposite direction.

As she stooped and picked up the box Jones and Read commanded her to halt, but the woman began to run and both of them fired on her with shotguns, filling her left side with small shot. She fell to the ground and was taken to the county jail, where medical aid was called.

Woman Denies Complicity.

The woman declared she did not write the letter, but that a well-dressed stranger approached her in the afternoon and offered her $5 if she would get a package for him from the appointed place, and that as she was in need of ready money she accepted the offer. This story, however, is not believed by the authorities. The writing was that of a woman. A man was seen by the officers, but before they could reach him he had disappeared. Joseph Sparks, son of John T. Sparks, who committed suicide in Terre Haute last week, was arrested and placed in jail. Sparks has been keeping company with the Springer woman for some time and he is being held as an accomplice.

FIERCE LABOR WAR

Hungarian and American Miners Resort to Force of Arms.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 30.—Thirty-five American employees of the Bogle mine, near Jasonville, were prevented from going to work by seventy-five Hungarian miners.

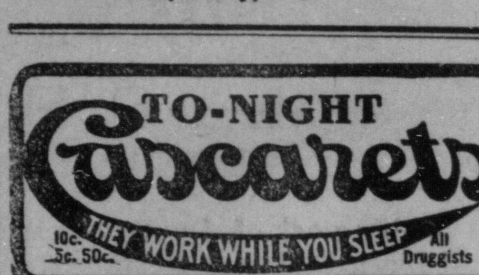

In an exchange of shots between the opposing labor factions five Americans were shot, one of them so seriously he may not recover. The Hungarians are barricaded in one of their houses and several have been wounded.

They had been warned against trying to go to work, and a number of their houses were shot into. The Hungarians bought revolvers and ammunition and paraded the streets. The Americans have sent to neighboring towns for help.

The clash occurred when a committee of Americans went to the mines and notified the foreigners to get out of the field. Without warning the Hungarians fired from one of their houses, five Americans dropping, while the others who had armed themselves in anticipation of trouble returned the fire. A number of Hungarians are said to have been shot while standing in the doors and windows. A volley of shots from both sides followed.

CLOSING IN ON THE RED SKINS

Crazy Snake and His Followers
Hard Pressed.

THEY TAKE TO THE HILLS

After a Brisk Battle in Which One Indian Was Slain and a Number Captured, Muttinous Redskins Seek Safety in Precipitate Flight—With Their Forces Thus Scattered It Is Thought There Will Be Little Trouble in Putting Down the Uprising.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 30.—Chitti Harjo (Crazy Snake) has been surrounded in the North Canadian bottoms near Pierce. Three hundred militiamen, cowboys and deputy sheriffs are closing in upon him and his early capture is expected.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 30.—A detachment of Crazy Snake's band of belligerent Indians was surrounded by deputy sheriffs near Crazy Snake's home and a lively battle ensued. More than 200 shots were fired and one Indian was killed. Eight Indians were captured and the remainder fled with the deputies in pursuit.

The house of Crazy Snake was burned by Indians to divert attention from the bushwhacking fight. This was related by Deputies Jones and Frank Smith after they had reached Checotah for more ammunition.

"We were pressing the Indians pretty close," said Jones, "when our attention was called to a fire in the distance. Harjo's house was burned to the ground. The fight was warm, but we did not dare push it very long, for we were short on ammunition."

George Woodruff, for the department of the interior, has reached Muskogee from Washington and will go to Henryetta today.

A detachment of deputies last evening captured Sandy Tabler, a half-breed, who for a long time has been one of Crazy Snake's chief aids. Sheriff Odom believes he was one of those in the Snake's house during Thursday evening's fight.

Deputy Flynn took Tabler to the Okmulgee jail after passing part of the day with the militia. He said bloodhounds were placed on the Snake's trail and that the chances were favorable for his capture.

Not Afraid of Blue Blood.

"Those negroes and Indians are not afraid of blue blood," said Flynn. "They know no fear as long as they stand together, and it was wise generalship in scattering them. I regret to say the situation is more critical than it appears on the surface. The visitor goes over the country and sees no excitement and concludes there is no danger, but the people ought to know better. The trouble has consisted principally of skirmishes, but the lives of many people are continually endangered just the same. Some of the people want to suppress the news because it is bad advertising for this part of the state."

One of the largest crowds ever congregated in the little town of Checotah attended the funeral of Herman Odom, the twenty-two year-old deputy who was killed in a fight at the home of Crazy Snake. Every business house was closed for an hour.

The body of Edward Baum, who was killed in the fight, was sent to Fort Smith for burial. Several families have deserted their homes in the vicinity of Pierce on account of the Indian troubles.

THE KIDNAPPING CASE

It Is Said Boyle's Wife Is to Escape Prosecution.

Mercer, Pa., March 30.—The preliminary hearing at Sharon and the safe return to the Mercer jail of James H. Boyle and the rumor that his woman companion may escape prison and soon regain her liberty are the developments of the day in the Whitla kidnapping case.

The opinion is spreading that Mrs. Boyle will not be prosecuted and that she will soon be allowed to depart. There is said to be no local proof to connect her with the abduction, and as she absolutely refuses to aid the authorities, the supposition is that she will soon be free.

It is said her prosecution is not eagerly desired by Mrs. Whitla, whose wishes are likely to be respected. No results are known of the attempt to locate the alleged accomplices, and it appears as if Boyle is to bear the entire punishment for the abduction.

Fleeing Highwayman Shot.

Pittsburg, March 30.—An unknown man was shot and mortally wounded by Justice of the Peace William Patterson at Wilson, near here late last night, while a posse pursued two other men believed to have been members of a gang of highwaymen who held up several persons at Wilson. The man was shot during a pitched battle with officers after they had caught three men in the act of robbing a victim. It is believed that at least one other highwayman was wounded.

Rumor Has It That King Peter Will Leave Belgrade.

London, March 30.—Special dispatches received here from Rome and Vienna give rumors that Peter, the king of Serbia, and all the members of his family are preparing to leave Belgrade.

The message from Rome says that King Victor Emmanuel has received a letter from Belgrade to the effect that King Peter and his sons are going to Switzerland. King Peter suggests that the youngest son of Prince Nicholas of KING PETER OF SERBIA.

Montenegro take the crown of Serbia. The king of Italy, according to this dispatch, does not oppose the abdication of King Peter, but will urge that Peter's son Alexander succeed him. The dispatch from Vienna says that an influential party in the Serbian parliament is agitating against the Karageorgevitch dynasty, the family of King Peter, and discussing either the Duke of Teck or Prince Arthur of Connaught as possible successors to the throne.

HUSBAND NOT GUILTY

This Was Mrs. Mary Farmer's Dying Declaration.

Auburn, N. Y., March 30.—Hoping that she might save her husband from the fate that befell her, Mrs. Mary Farmer, convicted of the killing of Mrs. Sarah Brennan last April in Brownsville, left a confession, made public after her execution by electricity in Auburn prison. In this she declared that her husband, James Farmer, now under sentence of death, was not guilty of crime and knew nothing of it until it had been committed. Farmer is in the state prison here.

SERBIA TAKES HER MEDICINE

Principle of Intervention Has Been Accepted.

KING PETER MAY ABDICATE

Rumor Has It That Following the Close of His Humiliating Experience, the King of Serbia Will Remove With His Family to Switzerland—Servian Parliament Even Now Discussing the Question of a Possible Successor.

Belgrade, March 30.—The final intervention of the powers with respect to the controversy between Serbia and Austria-Hungary is in progress today, having been postponed from yesterday afternoon until today, as the Russian minister had not then received instructions from St. Petersburg. It was the intention of the representatives of Great Britain, France, Russia and Italy to inform the Servian government yesterday afternoon of the recognition by the powers of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary and to advise Serbia to accept the settlement as it had been arranged. Notwithstanding, however, that this action has not yet been taken, Serbia has accepted the plan in principle, and many reservists have already been discharged.

The settlement apparently has not met with popular approval, for the volunteers, while returning from military exercises under regular officers, were the objects of ridicule as they passed through the streets with bayonets fixed and the band playing.

M. Milovanovich, minister of foreign affairs, in explanation of Serbia's attitude, says that the formula proposed by Great Britain and approved by Austria, is acceptable to Serbia because it does not contain anything compromising to Great Britain or anything that would impugn the national honor.

Wouldn't Face the Storm.

Paris, March 30.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Echo de Paris says that M. Iswolsky, the Russian foreign minister, has resigned and will be succeeded by either Prince Engalitscheff or M. Tcharykoff, chief of the foreign office.

The Want Advertisements Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal service. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bargaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.

BUTTON, BUTTON, MR. HUBBY IS IT

Buttons for Milady's New Frock Must be Bought by the Peck or Bushel.

GROCERY STORES SELL THEM

The vagaries of fashion are very great, almost innumerable, indeed, but they seem to have reached their limit when some genius of a milliner evolved the 500 button gown. The caricaturists have, of course, found it a capital subject for their pencils, and have depicted it in all kinds of situations.

The ladies seem to have been flabbergasted by the new comer and treat it very gingerly and not very approvingly. One of the difficulties of the case lies in the perplexity of calculating the value of the buttons and how to buy them, by the dozen or by the peck. Husbands shrink from buttoning them after the garment has been donned.

So far not a single lady of prominence has been named as a possible purchaser or as an owner and prospective wearer of one, as there is not the slightest degree of taste in the idea, only a vulgar exhibition of extravagance. There is much discussion as to whether the buttons are to be bought at the jeweler's or at the grocer's by the quart.

TO GIVE MINSTREL IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Knights of Columbus are Making Extensive Preparation to Put on Big Production.

SOON AFTER EASTER SUNDAY

The Knights of Columbus are making extensive plans to give a minstrel show in the old church hall shortly after Easter Sunday. The members of the local council believe that they have some dormant talent and will make an attempt to bring it out. The show will be given with an eye to the olio, to make it the best part of the show, as it is generally the only bad feature of a home talent minstrel show. No definite arrangements have been made, but it is expected to have rehearsals started in the near future.

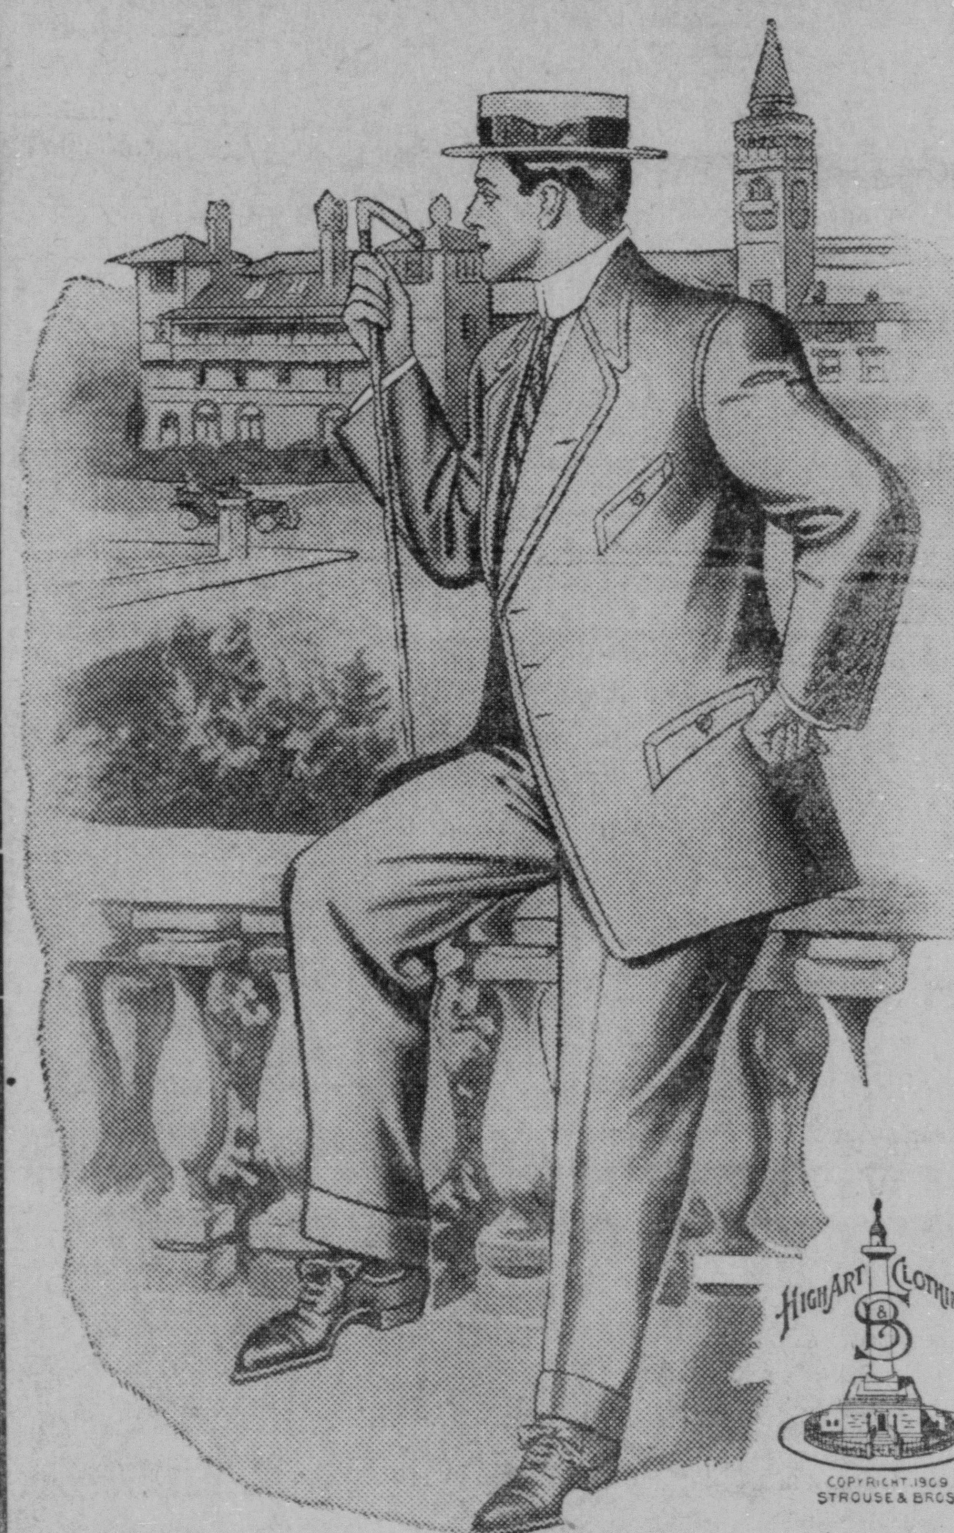

SMITH IN FAIRLAND.

Fairland correspondent in Shelbyville Democrat: "Rev. Roscoe C. Smith, pastor in charge of the Christian church, has moved his family here and will occupy the residence property on the corner of Washington and Commercial streets."

OPEN WITH PRAYER.

New Castle Courier: Cambridge City saloon keepers are going to obey the law to the letter. Some men say that the Richmond saloon keepers will soon open their wet goods emporium with prayer and at eleven the doxology will be sung.
